Through the interior patios, there is also a practical connection to the private garage, a particularly noteworthy added

The first floor houses the sleeping area, comprising three bedrooms and a bathroom, with a comfortable and practical layout for everyday living.

On the upper floor is one of the most appealing spaces in the home: a large private solarium with numerous possibilities. An ideal place to create different relaxation areas, an outdoor dining area, or a gathering space and enjoy Estepona's excellent climate for much of the year.

The home has been partially renovated and is in good condition, while still offering interesting scope for personalization thanks to the versatility of its spaces, among which the interior patios, annexed room, garage, and solarium stand out, allowing the property to be adapted to different tastes, needs, and lifestyles.

All this in an exceptional location, allowing you to enjoy the charm of the Old Town on foot, with shops, restaurants, schools, transport, and all kinds of services nearby, as well as convenient access to the beach, the promenade, and the port.
